- Motion to approve minutes from July 2021 Annual Business meeting made by Jerry Ardeman – second by Monica Natynski – Approved

F. Treasurer's Report – Financial Recap - Dan Beck

- Covid Jugs special commemorative sales helped drive additional revenue over the past two years: 2021 - $48k 2022 - $30k
- Cash position does not reflect Convention expenses yet to be posted - $527k
- Investments are primarily in CD's due to safer interest rate

G. Historian's Report and Crockfest Recap – Nancy Lambert

- Badger Chapter will host the Display room in 2023
- Nancy clarified that fees for membership and convention just cover the cost of each and without those fees, we would not be able to produce such an excellent newsletter.

H. Representatives at Large Reports – Diana Bailey and Rich Natynski

- Florida and Illinois Chapters are working on revitalizing interest
- Met with seven (7) Chapter presidents in 2022 and two (2) more during convention

I. Convention Managers' Reports

- Auction Report – Dave Huisman
  - 2022 Auction - $133k approximately $16k to RWCS Note: without the record setting piece (20 gallon bird crock) the auction would have made only half as much
  - Need more participation by members to provide good quality pieces
  - Improvements for next year:
    - Catalog will be printed larger and in better format
    - Earlier start time – still in the afternoon so as not to interfere with parking lot sales and volunteering
    - Better process in getting photos for items – limit the number of photos submitted

- Commemorative Report & Special Commemorative winners – Bob Morawski
  - Beater Jar – 705 sold
  - 139 sets sold
  - 45th Anniversary Jug – 366 sold
- Special commemorative - stoneware floral vase

K. Recognition of Nancy and Wayne Lambert – Paul Wichert

- “In appreciation of the time and effort, that Nancy Lambert has put in every year to make the RWCS Convention a success, the Board wants to acknowledge this incredible achievement. Nancy has almost single handedly organized every aspect of the Convention and MidWinter Get Togethers. She has written and produced nearly every document and piece of advertising related to the events. She wrote every article and organized the Convention Supplements. She spent over 600 hours getting this year’s Convention on the books. I do not think anyone outside of the Board recognizes all that Nancy has done in the background to make our Convention the success that it is. Standing with her in every project is Wayne, her husband, confidant, and supporter.

This Board wants to recognize the dedication, as a token of gratitude of the Red Wing Collectors Society. This Board grants Nancy and Wayne “lifetime membership” in the Red

Wing Collectors Society and registration at all Red Wing Collectors Society events in the future at no cost. Thank you Nancy and Wayne for your unending dedication to the Red Wing Collectors Society."
