

Hi,

I have 23 pieces of Red Wing Stoneware that I hope you guys could value for me.

The First One is: 15 gallon Crock with a 4.25 inch red wing w/ spigot.

I will send them in all separate emails, the attachment will have the corresponding picture with the description.

Thank you very much for your help,
Keegan

Value of your 15 gallon Red Wing Crock with spigot hole would be in the range of $200 to $225. Al Kohlman

the second piece is: 12 gallon crock with 5 inch tall birch leaves, molded handles Value $100 to $110

the 3rd one is: 20 gallon crock w/ 5 inch redwing

20 gallon crock, $200,

the 4th one is: 12 gallon crock w/ 4 inch redwing
Value $100 to $110

the 5th one is: 2 gallon crock w/ 4.25 inch redwing

$50 & $60

the 6th one is: 3 gallon crock w/ 4.25 inch redwing

$75-$95.

the 7th one is: 6 gallon crock w/ 4.5 inch redwing

$75

the 8th one is: 5 gallon crock w/ 4.5 inch redwing

5 gallon $60 to $90

the 9th one is: 10 gallon crock w/ 6 inch redwing
Value $100 jto $110

the 10th one is: 5 gallon imperial-salt glazed

Not a Red Wing don't know the value

the 11th one is: 5 gallone beehive

a value between $300 & $350

the 12th one is: 5 gallon jug w/ 2.25 inch wing

$50

the 13th one is: 5 gallon jug w/ 4 inch wing

$50 to $75

the 14th one is: 3 gallon jug w/ 4 inch wing

$50 to $75

the 15th one is: 5 gallon butter churn w/ 4.25 inch wing

$200 & $250

the 16th one is: Red Wing Feeder right around $150 in perfect condition

the 17th one is: Red Wing #5 Bean Pot
This is a packing value. Value unsigned $15 to $20

the 18th one is: Red Wing blank small jug

From what I can see of your molded jug it looks to be Red Wing. However, the Western Stoneware Company produced them as well. These jugs were made in the 1920's and were known as vinegar jugs. You would take this jug to the grocery store and they would dispense vinegar in it for you. By doing this, you only needed to pay for the vinegar and not the container. Not being signed and no decoration or advertising, the value on these jugs is quite low. $10 to $15 Al Kohlman the 19th one is: Blank Small Jug- Red Wing Stoneware embossed on the bottom Bottom signed $40 to $60

The 20th one is: 1 gallon blank Red Wing crock
Unsigned $15 to $20

the 21st one is: 13 inch diameter Red Wing Bowl

Red Wing milk pan. These milk pans were a very popular item and appeared in all the Red Wing catalogs beginning in 1909. In mint condition and signed your bowl would have a value between $50 & $70.

the 22nd one is: 8.5 inch diameter Red Wing bowl Gray line bowl in mint condition $70 to $90

the 23rd (and Final) one is: 25 gallon crock w/ 5.75 inch wing

25 gallon $300

Thank you for all your help with giving these pieces a suggested value.
It is very much appreciated.

Keegan
